PUBLIC ISN'T ANXIOUS OVER COAL SUPPLY

Attention Has Been Focused on Striking Miners by Clashes of Past Few Days

STRIKE STARTED APRIL 1
Records Indicate That Surplus Fuel Is Sufficient to Last to Dec. 1

Copyright 1927, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—While violence in the Ohio coal fields will serve to recall to the public the fact that there is a labor dispute between the operators and union miners in a large area of the country, records of the bureau of mines disclose no cause for anxiety on the part of consumers as to a supply of fuel for the approaching winter. There may be a revival in congress next winter of the movement for regulatory legislation, however. The United Mine Workers of America ceased work April 1, when their three-year contract with the operators of the bituminous coal fields expired. A number of separate temporary agreements were made which have served to permit mining operations to continue in some unionized mines. The principal effects of the cessation have been felt in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana. The anthracite miners are not involved in this situation.

NO INTEREST IN STRIKE
Owing to some union production and the operations of the extensive non-union coal fields, the public has shown comparatively little interest in the soft coal situation during the four months it has existed, but the efforts of some of the Ohio operators to regain their place with non-union miners in the last two days have served to focus attention on the question of expectant supply.

Figures given the bureau of mines indicate that there is sufficient coal already distributed throughout the country to last until the end of the year. The even greater consumption of fuel practically no more coal were lifted from the shafts in the meanwhile.

The coal market has fallen into the doldrums during the summer, owing to the large stocks and to a somewhat slackening of demand. Non-union miners have been producing during the last four months at a reduced rate because of light demand. They were supplying nearly 60 per cent of the soft coal consumed in the country before work ceased in the unionized fields and the capable of furnishing an even greater proportion of normal requirements.

LARGEST OUTPUT
Owing to accelerated production in all fields early in the year, before the union contract expired, the cumulative output of soft coal from Jan. 1 to July 23 this year was the largest since 1923, the reports to Washington showing 501,672,000 tons. Despite the fact of the central competitive fields of the unionized districts.

From the standpoint of the consumer, there appears to be no occasion for alarm over the outlook for a winter's supply of coal. Year there remains the possibility of stiffening prices in another six weeks, should demand pick up sharply. There is a psychology surrounding coal which makes for competitive bidding at the first indication of rising prices.

Cessation of work in unionized mines where no coal is being produced was ordered last spring and caused heavy loss to the operators and suffering to the miners in those districts, and has served to unbalance economic conditions.

18 AIRPLANES IN FIRST RACE ACROSS OCEAN

$35,000 in Prizes Offered for Aviators to Complete Hop to Hawaii

San Francisco—(AP)—The die was cast Wednesday for the first trans-oceanic airplane race in history with 14 official and 4 unofficial entries for the James Doolittle $35,000 prize for the first and second aviators to fly from the North American continent to Honolulu after noon, Aug. 12.

The official list of entries was left incomplete when the hour for its closing—midnight last night—arrived. The committee in charge of the arrangements announced that all entries postmarked before that hour would be accepted when received.

A wide assortment of aviators, navigators and aviation enthusiasts make up the list which will center in the 2,400 mile dash across half of the Pacific ocean.

Two women were among the official entries—Mrs. William F. Erwin, wife of the Dallas, Texas, entrant, and Miss Mildred Doran, Flint, Mich., school teacher, who will make the trip with John Augie Pedlar, the Flint entry. Several army and navy aviators will participate.

START FROM CALIFORNIA
The San Francisco Bay region will be the starting point for nearly all the fliers. The sole exception, to date, is Major C. O. Osborne, Canada's only entrant who has stated that he will take off from Vancouver, B. C.

Mrs. Erwin is an experienced pilot and will alternate with her husband at the control stick. The Erwin family plans to make the Honolulu hop the first in the world to Hongkong in quest of the $35,000 prize offered by William B. Easterwood of Dallas for a flight from Dallas to Hongkong.

All entrants in the Dole race have been instructed to be here by Monday, Aug. 8. On that date they must appear before the rules committee to present their credentials.

On Aug. 8, the entrants will draw lots for starting positions, and entrants must be on the starting line in the order indicated by the drawing and must start within one minute after the signal is given by the official starter or retire to the end of the line.

PARLEY DELEGATES HOLD SPECIAL MEET

To Discuss Compromise Plan for Cruisers Suggested by Japan

Geneva—(AP)—The announcement that the six plenipotentiaries at the tripartite naval conference, supplemented by three or four other delegates, would meet some time Wednesday to discuss the new situation created by the Japanese compromise plan stirred the hopes of those conference circles in which a belief is still held that a treaty eventually can be drawn up at Geneva.

SIGNS BILL TO PROVIDE AID FOR CRIPPLES

$100,000 to Provide Special Education for Unfortunate Children

Madison—(AP)—Governor Fred Zimmerman Tuesday signed the bill giving crippled Wisconsin children an opportunity to receive special educational and physical training in their home public school.

The bill carries an appropriation of $100,000 that will be devoted as state aid to school districts making special provisions for crippled children as recommended by physicians.

Both houses of the legislature met Tuesday, approximately a score of the members being present. As all business had been disposed of except messages from the governor on bills approved or rejected, the sessions were brief, the house adjourning until Thursday and the senate until Friday.

VETOES TAX REFUND

The governor Wednesday vetoed a bill providing for the refund of the inheritance taxes paid to the state under a provision of the Wisconsin inheritance tax law which was declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court.

This provision required the payment of an inheritance tax on all gifts made within a period of six years prior to a person's death, the claim being that these gifts were made in contemplation of death. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee.

The governor also vetoed a bill providing for regulation of the sale of fireworks, prohibiting the sale of firecrackers and other fireworks to minors. He refused to approve the measure because of the awkward wording which might convey the wrong meaning, a meaning the members of the legislature had probably not attached.

VETOES FIVE BILLS

Five other bills were vetoed, including a measure appropriating $10,000 to the University of Wisconsin for the study of bovine tuberculosis. Governor said he did not "care to supplement the regular university budget with a number of additional appropriations—that that budget should have taken care of this work."

In vetoing the inheritance tax bill, Governor Zimmerman argued that each of the claimants had full opportunity to contest the proceedings fixing the amount of the tax, the law having provided them with legal machinery for the recovery of any illegal inheritance taxes.

Under these circumstances, "not having availed themselves of their rights within the statutory period, they are in no different position than the ordinary litigant who is faced by a plea that the statute of limitations has barred a claim which, but for such fact, would be valid."

The governor also stated that the state would be put to considerable disadvantage to litigate claims covering a period of ten years. He added that the financial condition of the state could not afford further strain if other appropriation bills of equal importance were to be approved.

DEMPSEY WILL FIGHT TUNNEY IN SEPTEMBER

New York—(AP)—The Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship match at Chicago may be staged Sept. 12, after all, as originally planned, instead of Sept. 22, Promoter Tex Rickard declared Wednesday on his return from Chicago.

Rickard declared he was making every effort to convince Jack Dempsey, who has been holding out for a later date, that Sept. 12 is the most desirable time for the title battle. The promoter expects to decide the date definitely Wednesday. It will positively be no later than Sept. 22, he said.

Rickard conferred with Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's manager, shortly after returning from Chicago and received the latter's assurances that either Sept. 12 or 22 would be satisfactory.

There will be no controversy with the New York state athletic commission, Rickard added, over his decision to hold the big bout in Chicago instead of New York. The promoter said he regarded the issue as a closed book.

Check Shows Americans In China During Quake

Shanghai—(AP)—A check of available lists shows that 34 American and European missionaries were in northern part of China's remote province of Kansu when the region was visited by the tremendous earthquake of May 23, in which, according to some estimates, more than 100,000 persons lost their lives. The missionaries are all believed to be alive except the sister Superior of the Constantinian Society Divine Word Mission in Sisiang.

The group includes five Americans, Dr. L. P. Rand of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fiddler of Chicago, stationed at Mingxia, F. A. Gustafson of Denver, stationed at Tsungsin, all of the China inland mission and Miss E. Petersen of South Dakota, stationed at the Chenuyan Swedish Alliance mission.

Missionaries and other familiar with the area express the opinion that the quake severely affected 20,000 square miles.

Chinese Red Cross officials point out the impossibility of sending immediate aid to the stricken region, as it takes eight weeks to reach Lianschow, the provincial capital.

Further graphic details of the quake have been received from Monsignor Theodore Buddenbrook, of the Steel mission at Lianschow, who sent the first detailed account of the disaster to Shanghai several days ago. He was saying mass when the tremor came.

"I began the mass and completed the consecration when without the slightest warning there was an indescribable noise, a terrible thundering and terrifying echo."

"As if carried by a hurricane, I was pushed from the altar through the sacristy and into the open. Sisters and children rushed to the door as the walls crashed. The children scrambled over fallen masses. I still hear their screams. We were tossed about and it was impossible to stand. Instinctively we fell to our knees, imploring God's mercy amidst the roaring and thundering of collapsing buildings and rolling earth. The quake subsided in a few minutes."

CAL'S DECLARATION DROPS STOCK PRICES

Market Recovers in Short Time, However, and Early Losses Are Recovered

New York—(AP)—The stock market broke three to nearly 16 points on the first onslaught of selling which followed President Coolidge's statement that he did not choose to be a candidate in 1928 and immediately staged a remarkable recovery which substantially reduced, or wiped out most of the early losses and carried a few issues to record high levels.

The first sale of Atchafalaya was a block of 5,000 shares at 138, off 5 1/4. Initial losses in some of the other popular issues were Union Pacific 5 1/4, Baldwin 4, Chrysler 3, Allied Chemical 4, Eastman Kodak 5 1/4, Reading 3 1/4, General Railway Signal 2, International Nickel 2, Hudson 3 1/4, Houston Oil 8 1/4, Crucible Steel 2, United Drug 3 and General Asphalt 2.

Trading was unusually heavy with blocks of 5,000 to 10,000 shares quite common in the early dealings. Initial losses in the popular issues ran from one to eight half points.

United States Steel common opened with a block of 3,000 shares at 14 1/2, off 3/4, and General Motors opened with a block of 6,000 shares at 22 1/2, off 6 points.

REPORT CHINESE ARE FOREIGNER'S FRIENDS

Williamstown, Mass.—(AP)—The collapse of anti-foreignism in China and the "decline of docility" are the most outstanding of all facts in the present movement, Stanley High, of the Methodist board of foreign missions told the Institute of Politics Wednesday.

"It needs to be known in America that there is a foundation of order and friendliness below the surface of events in China," he said. "Up to the present time, there has not been in a single city of China, a single popular uprising against the foreigner."

"Paid agitators of bandit soldiers, carrying out the commands of communist commanders have made trouble. But so far the people have refused to be a party to these outbreaks. In Nanking it is doubtful if any foreigners would have escaped with their lives had it not been for the sacrificial friendship of the Chinese of that city."

SEEK 2 MEN KILLED IN STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION

Vicksburg, Miss.—(AP)—Search was begun Wednesday for the two men who were missing from the barges of the tow boat Sprague which exploded and burned at Salem Landing, 35 miles north of here Tuesday. Two men were killed and two others seriously injured in the blast. The injured men were brought here on the steamer Gulfport, which steamed here after the explosion.

The Sprague was southbound with a tow of 19 barges when one of the barges grounded and the tow broke up. Then the first explosion occurred. Two of the barges went aground and two were towed to shore.

"ATTEMPTED TO DISCREDIT ME," HE DECLARES

Says Supporters of "Appropriation" Bills Wanted to Embarrass Him

Madison—(AP)—Everything before the 1927 legislature that had an increased appropriation "had the support of those who wished to discredit and embarrass the executive," Governor Fred R. Zimmerman said Wednesday.

He blamed the 1927 session of the legislature that of 1925 and the previous administration, for increased appropriations that may necessitate his veto of all of the six or seven major appropriation bills and may necessitate a special session of the legislature.

The bills, for the state university and normal school support, mothers pension, state parks, board of control and school tax equalization, are not yet upon the governor's desk. He, therefore, would make no definite statements as to his veto or signature of them. But he has been fairly predicted in the capital that more than one of them would be vetoed and it has been learned from a source, unquotable, but very close to the executive, that all of them will, in all probability, be sent back to the legislature without his approval, necessitating either a return to Madison of the legislators, or a special session in the fall.

The governor considers the return of the legislators probably the most likely of the two emergency actions, although he has had no word on the subject from the legislators.

CITIES AN EXAMPLE

"For instance, the 1921 legislature appropriated $80,000 for new cells at the state penitentiary, the money subject to release by the governor. Governor Blaine released this money in 1926, before he became United States senator. Then the present legislature came in and immediately wanted to give $55,000 more to this work."

"This is just one evidence of what has gone on."

"Early in the session there was appropriated as an emergency $750,000 for eradication of bovine tuberculosis. This was to carry on the work for the remainder of the fiscal year. They knew before the session that it was necessary, yet left it for the responsibility of the present legislature and governor."

"Another example is the emergency appropriation that was necessary to pay the June and July salaries of some employees of the board of control of charitable and penal institutions. This should have been met in previous appropriations, but was left until a matter of emergency and financial responsibility of this administration and legislature."

"Where these and others should be chargeable to the present office holders."

He cited the emergency appropriation that was necessary for the office of the superintendent of public property and said:

"You don't have to stop there; there are probably five or six other similar instances."

The governor said that anti-administration leaders in the 1927 legislature would have been tickled to death to have added two or three million dollars to the financial burden that is scheduled to embarrass the governor, through the La Follette Memorial Library bill.

He closed his interview with the statement that this proposed increased appropriation was one of the several which cannot be supported of those who "wished to embarrass the governor."

PASTOR QUILTS AS RESULT OF SCHOOL BOARD MIXUP

Superior—(AP)—The resignation of the Rev. William F. Hood as rector of St. Albans Episcopal church, was the most startling development in the school situation here Wednesday. The Rev. Hood's resignation was accepted by the vestry of his church Tuesday night and announced Wednesday afternoon. He was a member of the board of education that has been involved in the tempestuous row here for the last three months.

George Schuning, secretary of the vestry, told the Associated Press his resignation came as the outgrowth of his activity on the board of education, that it was requested two months ago and the rector had acquiesced formally Tuesday night, the resignation to take effect Oct. 1. His successor has not yet been selected.

There was no other development Wednesday. School funds are still tied up in city banks and no checks will be paid on either the old or new boards of education until a local opinion has been received from the city attorney.

William B. Butler, chairman of Republican national committee: I am not convinced he will not run if nominated.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover: It is too soon to discuss it.
Former Governor Lowden of Illinois, Republican: I know of no man in all our history who has run away from the presidency.

SIXTY SCORES PAR IN FIRST TITLE ROUND

Milwaukee Sets Hot Pace in Golf Tourney—Appleton Men Eliminated

Billy Sixty, Milwaukee golf writer and player, was the first entrant in the state championship tournament in progress here to negotiate "Butte des Morts" course in par. Sixty scored a 71 for the 18 holes in his match with Sam Randolph of Manitowish, and won his first round battle 4 and 2.

Sixty shot a first round 90, 10 holes in 24, two under par, but ran into quite a bit of trouble on the second nine and scored a 37, two over the new par for the course. He was obliged to take a 6 on the 4 par fourteenth hole and he was one over par on the short twelfth, also above a crack. He picked up his birdie on the sixteenth hole.

The Milwaukeean's shot was not auspicious for his start as five on the tricky par 4 first hole. He got this stroke back on the third hole when he took his first birdie, and he made his second birdie on the long sixth hole that has borne the brunt of the abuse and "cussing" of the visiting golfers. Sixty added another to his collection of birdies by holing his third shot on the eighth hole.

Here is his card:
Par 4 4 3 3 3 4 4 36
But 4 4 3 3 3 3 4 31
In 4 4 3 4 4 3 5 35
Par 4 4 4 4 3 3 5 37-71

Appleton didn't fare well in the competition for the Yule cup, finishing with 431 far down the line. The event was won by the Blue Mount Country club, Milwaukee, with a total score of 411. Second place went to Ken.

FONDY MAN HEADS CONSERVATION BODY

Organization Meeting Held Wednesday Morning at State Capitol

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin's new conservation commission, recently appointed by Governor Zimmerman, organized itself Wednesday by electing William Mauthe, Fond du Lac chairman, and E. M. Dahlberg, Ladysmith, secretary.

The six members, Mauthe, Dahlberg, F. L. Gilbert, of Madison; O. C. Lemke, of Wausau; Eugene Wengert, Milwaukee, and A. W. Icks, Green Bay, meeting in the joint finance committee room of the capitol, called upon the present conservation commissioner, Elmer Hall, to "come and meet the members" Wednesday afternoon. They said that nothing would be announced regarding selection of a director of conservation or retention of Mr. Hall until next week at latest.

They issued a statement saying they were all agreed that "Wisconsin's conservation policy must be a comprehensive and all-inclusive one."

When newsmen were called in to the meeting room, Mr. Mauthe announced that "by sort of a process of elimination" he had been selected chairman.

The commission also announced that Messrs. Patterson, secretary of the conservation department as at present constituted, Harrington, head of the forests and state parks department under Mr. Hall, and E. O. Webster, head of fisheries section of the present commission, would later be called in to consultation regarding the workings of conservation in Wisconsin to date.

G. O. P. LEADERS BURN WIRES TO SUMMER HOME

Hint Presidential Announcement Hasn't Closed Door to Nomination

PARTY LEADERS ARE QUIET
Cal Greatly Amused at Consternation Caused by His "Bombshell"

Washington—(AP)—A night of speculation left Washington political heads still muddled Wednesday over President Coolidge's terse announcement that he did not "choose" to run for president in 1928.

Instead of clarifying the situation as the time approaches for active campaigning to get under way for the 1928 national conventions, the action of Mr. Coolidge brought a vast outpouring of opinions which graphically illustrated the uncertainty in the minds of both friends and opponents of the administration.

A majority of these opinions were informal, because there was a great reluctance on the part of politicians to commit themselves on the question which was on every lip.

"Will the president run if he is nominated?"

Senator Smoot of Utah, an administration stalwart, thought he would, although he would prefer not to.

Others said he was definitely out of the race.

Still others said the issue had been put up to the Republican party, with the president now in a position to cast his line into the pools of Black Hills streams and await developments.

WONDER WHAT TO DO
The thought which was persistently expressed in the capital was: "Coolidge has come to the end of the line. He has taken by the friends of the president who have insisted that he would be nominated whether or not he chose to serve for another term."

The gossip here long has been persistent that with Mr. Coolidge eliminated, Secretary Hoover might be considered to get into the race along with Vice President Dawes, Frank O. Lowden, Speaker Nicholas Longworth, Senator Borah and the others who have been classed as eligibles.

Notwithstanding the persistent Hoover talk in Washington there has been no indication either from Hoover or the white house that he is being groomed as the administration candidate.

On the surface, with the exception of the Lowden candidacy, the activities on behalf of the other Republican high lights have been unostentatious. Most of these men have been content to remain silent on political developments.

MANY TELEGRAMS

Rapid City, S. D.—(AP)—A tremendous stack of telegrams was laid before President Coolidge Wednesday attesting the widespread reaction and surprise with which the country over all of 31,000,000 with a total score of 411. Second place went to Ken.

They came from east, west, north, south and everywhere and while they were not made public, they were said to convey the expressions from political leaders and friends in virtually all of the states.

Mr. Coolidge had scarcely left his office Tuesday after making his remarkable and unexpected statement before the wires into Rapid City started humming and the commercial lines were augmented by the president's personal wire from Washington with the fast mounting communications.

While saying nothing further Mr. Coolidge showed that the expression of Senator Capper of Kansas, a White House guest, as their impression of the situation.

"I have not discussed the president's statement with him," he asserted. "But I cannot see that the announcement was not a statement of the situation. It places the responsibility squarely with the Republican party as to its choice of a nominee next year."

Mr. Capper reported that the president was deeply amused with the consternation his announcement had caused among the correspondents.

RAILROAD GROUPING
PLAN IS APPROVED
BY TRAFFIC EXPERT

However, Roy G. Wort Believes Plan Does Not Go Far Enough

Plans to group the Western railways into four great systems, as presented before the Interstate Commerce Commission last week, are endorsed by Roy G. Wort, traffic manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, is endorsed by Roy G. Wort, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce, but Mr. Wort believes that the plan should be carried still further. He thinks that the eastern lines also should be added to the systems for a complete connection across the country. The eastern roads are having big years financially.

Mr. Wort said to group the Great Northern and Northern Pacific would not benefit this section of the country. Two of the larger roads, the Union Pacific and the Chicago and Northwestern, form the western gateway of the system.

The Holden plan for consolidation would have two of the roads, now reaching Appleton in one group, and one in another. The Chicago, Northwestern and the Soo are placed in the first group and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and the second.

The plan: Group 1 is composed of Burlington, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Santa Fe, Portland and Seattle, Colorado and Southern, Fort Worth and Denver City, Wichita, Valley, and Tri-Valley, and the Chicago and Northwestern. Group 2 is composed of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and the second.

These lines aggregate 27,812 miles of operated mileage, and 27,087 miles of owned mileage. To these have been added the Chicago, Great Western, the Green Bay and Western, Kansas City, Southern, Louisiana Railway and Navigation company, and also the Colorado and Wyoming, a small and separately owned property, in the state of Colorado. By these additions the operated mileage has been increased 3,132 miles, and the owned mileage 2,990 miles, a moderate addition only to the present system, which has been long and has been long in the circumstances before rectified.

Group 2 proposes the association of Santa Fe, Chicago and North Western system lines, the Iron Range roads, the Soo line, the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, St. Louis-Southwestern, certain other smaller properties and one half interest in the Chicago and Western Pacific. Without pausing at this time to discuss less important details, the association of Santa Fe, with Chicago and Eastern Illinois, seems to represent a rational insistence of what may logically and properly be done, particularly where effort, as indicated in the language of the commission's report of Aug. 2, 1921, is to be minimized dismemberment of existing lines or systems. By Chicago and Eastern Illinois, southern Illinois coal may move over one line haul to the market territory afforded by the Chicago and Northwestern and Chicago and Northwestern secures not only a line into St. Louis but also an outlet at the Ohio river into the southeast.

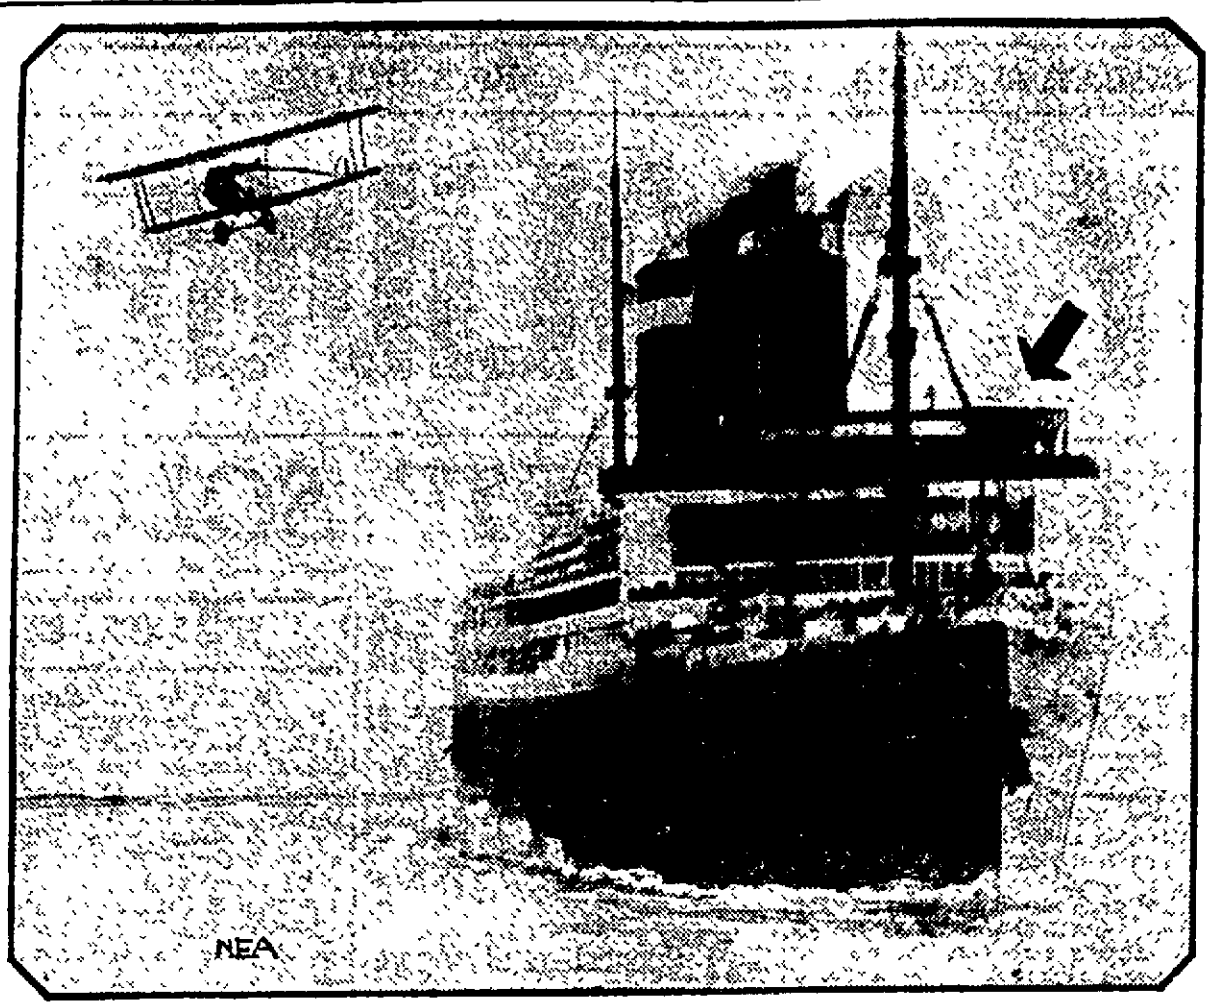

"Group 3, as before" indicated, the proposed Southern Pacific Road, Island group as planned by the commission contemplates not only transcontinental mileage as in effect via El Paso gateway, but indicates mileage to Denver and Colorado from the east and via Central Pacific from San Francisco to Ogden and Salt Lake city. The addition of the Missouri Pacific, and Missouri, Kansas and Texas systems to this group is suggested. By connecting south from St. Louis a shorter and more direct route into the southwest, at least an alternate route of an efficient character, is developed. The same is true of the more direct mileage south from Kansas City occupying a different belt of territory than that now served by the Rock Island line leading southwestwardly from Kansas City. The two lines from Missouri river to Colorado points occupy distinct portions of Kansas and Colorado, but both ending at Colorado need consideration for business.

To bridge the gap between Colorado and the Missouri Pacific, to contribute strength to the Rock Island line for its future development and improvement and including the Denver and Salt Lake, one half interest in the Denver and Rio Grande and Denver and Salt Lake is suggested for the Southern Pacific, Rock Island group.

Group 4. The grouping of the Union Pacific, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul has already been suggested, and it is evident that whether the present suggestions for four groups are entertained or not, that suggestion has merit and is entitled to consideration. Broadening the proposal, however, include a discussion of the four group plan it is proposed that the Union Pacific, Chicago and Milwaukee, St. Paul, and the second.

During his testimony Mr. Holden said further, "I have already indicated the merit, as I see it, of the association of Union Pacific with Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul providing again an alternate through route between the Middle West and the North-west, with the resulting advantages which have been indicated. By the addition of the Chicago and Milwaukee and the Washington lines west of the Missouri river, direct connection between Kansas City and St. Louis and between Kansas City and St. Louis is added. With the St. Louis-Southwestern, one of the

SEYMOUR'S BIG FAIR

Blue-blooded Cows, Horses and Sheep Compete for Popular Attention

A real menagerie will be on display at the Seymour Fair, Seymour, Aug. 22 to 25. It will be one in which all persons, large or small will be interested. True, wild lions and leopards will be conspicuous by their absence, but in their places will be found the blue-blooded of the cattle, horse, sheep, swine and poultry worlds.

For several years officials of the fair have been cooperating with various breed organizations in campaigns to improve the livestock on the farms in this locality. That these campaigns have borne fruit is best answered by the record-breaking number of entries received by the management in all divisions of its livestock show.

With liberal premiums being offered, in addition to beautiful ribbons, the owners of winning animals will be handsomely rewarded. Much interest attaches itself especially to the cattle show, which promises to bring out the keenest competition in years. So many fine animals have been entered that the judges are expected to have their hands full in selecting the winners. All of the popular breeds will be shown in both the dairy and beef divisions.

A revival of interest also has been manifested in the horse department. The sheep and swine shows, too, will be larger than in former years. The poultry show will feature a feathered chorus of crowing and cackling birds that will be heard on all parts of the grounds.

Youngsters in their teens will vie with their elders for premier honors in several of the contests. There are a number of boys who have been trained in club work who will enter animals in the cattle and pig contests. While they may be young in years, they are veterans of the show and visitors will be surprised when they see how these youngsters conduct themselves in the show ring.

ENDS APPRENTICESHIP Miss M. Buehler, a teacher in the Neenah schools last year, will complete a month's library apprenticeship work at the Appleton public library this week. She plans to enter the University of Wisconsin library school in the fall. A month's apprenticeship work is required for registration in the school.

stronger southwestern systems, provides mileage from St. Louis and Kansas City into the Southwest, and the addition of the Texas and Pacific provides access to New Orleans, and the International and Great Northern to Houston and Galveston. The Texas and Pacific includes the present line to El Paso, with access to Mexico as the traffic in that country may in the future develop.

1,341 BILLS BEFORE
STATE LEGISLATORS

Lawmakers Waded Through Mass of Proposed Laws During Session

Madison—(P)—With a total of 1,341 bills, introduced the 1927 session of the legislature ranked high in the list of law-making bodies that have had huge hoppers full of prospective legislative measures.

In recent years only the session of 1919 exceeded that of 1923 in the number of bills introduced. There were 1,350 that year.

Back in the old days of legislating, the numbers of bills ran only into the hundreds. In the first session, that of 1848, there were only 217 bills. The number doubled the following session and all down through the years it increased generally, coming over a thousand for the first time in 1883.

The largest number of measures ever considered by a Wisconsin legislature was 1,347, in 1913. In the session of 1907 there were 1,685 bills; in 1911 there were 1,710.

The smallest number of bills introduced was in the special sessions of 1832 and 1852. There were three measures brought before the legislature at those meetings. Only one passed, at each time.

In addition to the 1,341 bills introduced this session there were 239 joint resolutions, 129 of which originated in the assembly and 109 in the senate.

In the 1925 legislative session there were 1,241 bills.

BALLARD TELLS HOW

STATE'S PROPERTY

Grand Chute Man Explains Inventory of Capital Fixtures

Madison—(P)—Clinton B. Ballard, state superintendent of public property Wednesday sent to Governor Zimmerman the annual report of work in his office, which had been heretofore for some time as the "first state inventory."

It detailed how an inventory expert was called in after it was found that no resume of the state's property had been made and declared that the inventory and audit had cost $1,225.48. Mr. Ballard told the governor of installation of a postage stamp checking system whereby "degree of accuracy of distribution of postage during any given period" may be ascertained. He told of the discovery that state cars were being insured at different rates by the various department operating them and of the suggestion that the insurance department take over this whole matter.

The report carried the story of increase and subsequent reduction of the rent on the capitol annex, of cleaning out and making fire-proof the basement of the capitol "which was a veritable fire-trap" of repairing furniture and furnishings for replacement and sale, of giving charwomen employed in the capitol the $90 per month they are allowed by law, when they had only been receiving $80.25 and of releasing the capitol cigar stand and barber shop and securing a law allowing such leasing.

The financial section of the statement showed $163,124 available from old appropriations with $166,036 disbursed during the year.

The balance in the revolving fund of the department on July 1, 1926, $13,622, plus receipts during the year $426,824, made $440,446 on hand in this fund. From this disbursements left the balance at $15,100.

LIBRARY CIRCULATION
GROWS BY NEARLY 1,000

Book circulation at Appleton public library in July was 926 larger than in the same month last year, according to the report made by Miss Florence C. Day, librarian, at the meeting of the library board Tuesday afternoon at the library. The total circulation for the month was 8,455 volumes. This included 5,275 adult and 3,180 children books.

The statistical report of the number of books and borrowers in the library was not made as the librarian in charge of this department was on her vacation. The report will be made at the September meeting, it was stated.

At the beginning of the month there were 11,598 clippings on file and 112 were added, making a total at the end of the month of 11,710 clippings. Fourteen pamphlets were added to the collection of 1,032 making a total of 1,046.

Oshkosh Has Lowest Mortality Rate for Babies Under One Year of Age

Madison—(P)—To Oshkosh goes the honor of obtaining the lowest infant mortality rate of any Wisconsin city in 1926. The 1925 low record was held by Madison. These statistics were announced by the American Child Health association.

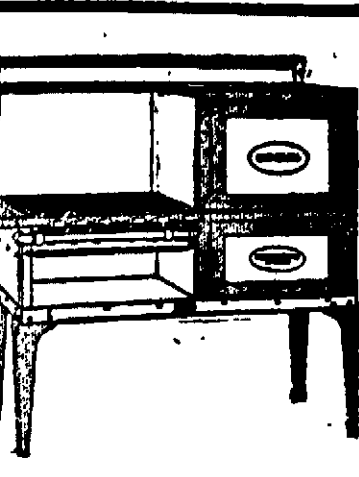

The Oshkosh rating this year was 56 followed closely by Appleton and West Allis whose ratings respectively are 60 and 61. Madison's low record of 1925, a 43, was seconded by Oshkosh with 45.

The association reported that the infant mortality rates for Wisconsin cities above 10,000 are nearly identical with the average rate of other cities of like size throughout the country. According to this report the twenty-one Wisconsin cities of more than 10,000 population showed an average infant mortality rate of 74 while the country wide average was 73.7. The infant mortality rate is the number of deaths under one year of age for each one thousand births.

In 1926 Wisconsin ranked thirteenth among twenty-nine states which are covered by this report. The city ratings are as follows: Oshkosh, 56; Appleton, 60; West Allis, 61; La Crosse, 65; Madison, 65; Superior, 66; Janesville, 67; Eau Claire, 69; Sheboygan, 72; Marinette, 73; Wausau, 76; Milwaukee, 77; Kenosha, 77; Fond du Lac, 78; Beloit, 78; Racine, 80; Green Bay, 81; Stevens Point, 81; Ashland, 93; and Manitowish, 96.

In national ratings the state of Oregon has the lowest urban rate in 1926 with the low figure of 39.

STATE FAIR SEEKING MORE LOCAL DISPLAY

Thirteen Local Exhibitors Are Secured but That Many More Are Wanted

Further efforts to increase the number of Appleton exhibitors at the 1927 state fair, which will be held Aug. 29 and Sept. 1, 2 and 3 at Milwaukee, were started this week by the exhibit committee of the chamber of commerce, according to Hugh G. Corbett, chamber of secretary. Thirteen Appleton firms have agreed to exhibit their wares and the committee will attempt to secure at least 13 more.

Appleton has the same aisle and same section as the paper industry because that industry is a specialty of this city. As Appleton is a "paper city" the location will add greatly to the strength of the local exhibit. The local section is considered as good display space, Mr. Corbett said. The Appleton exhibits at Milwaukee have

14 SHERIFFS VISITORS AT LEGION CONVENTION

Marquette—(P)—Fourteen sheriffs will be on hand at the American Legion convention here this month but all of them are "buddies."

The sheriffs, representatives of law and order in as many counties, have agreed to assist in keeping things somewhat quiet, but in the meantime they will renew acquaintances made during war days, since all are Legionnaires.

Oscar Dahl, sheriff of Marinette county, has been in communication with the men, all of whom have promised to attend in a semi-official capacity.

several times been considered among the best.

Appleton has reserved 10 booths. Mr. Corbett urges smaller exhibitors, such as the creameries, cheese factories and ice cream manufacturers to display their wares. The exhibitor may take only part of a booth for his wares, not even a half or a quarter, but as much as he needs. This gives the smaller manufacturer a chance for a good display without added expense of taking more room than he really actually needs. The cheese maker and creamery need only display cartons used for their product.

Firms already registered which will exhibit are Appleton Wood Products Co., Toy Corporation of America, J. J. Plank Co., Patten Paper Co., Appleton Toy and Furniture Co., Retail Publishers Inc., Riverside Fibre and Paper Co., Barnard Co., Appleton Wire Works, Wisconsin Wire Works, Tuttle Press Co., Fox River Knitting Co., and Scolding Locks Hairpin Co.

TOURISTS ANGERED BY NAILS IN ROAD

Door-co Received Many Complaints but None Are Heard Here

Tourists passing through Outagamie county have had few cases of tire trouble caused by tacks or nails in the roads, according to Sheriff Otto Zuehlke.

Much indignation has been caused by motorists passing through Door-co, according to reports received here, because of the many nails in the roads. Sheriff Zuehlke believes the nails may have been spilled by men who tack up signs on barns beside the road but does not believe that they were deliberately placed by garages so that they might profit by repairing punctures.

Recently a communication was received by C. D. Brower, Jr., president of Sturgeon Bay Chamber of Commerce, from A. L. Dawson of Chicago. The letter said in part:

"On July 5, I drove my car from Sister Bay to Chicago. Passing through Sturgeon Bay about 7:30 o'clock a. m. At that time I found five cars within the space of a quarter of a mile all with tire trouble, about a mile north of the business section of your town but apparently in the city limits."

"I thought I had escaped trouble, but upon turning the corner at Sawyer, found that I had picked up a nail, but of course supposed that I had run into it at Sturgeon Bay. It just happened that on the Friday previous, I had picked a nail up on the Sturgeon Bay side of the bridge

BALLARD VICTOR IN TILT WITH SOLONS

Shipments of "Plunder Boxes" at State Expense Is Forbidden

Clinton B. Ballard, superintendent of public property of Wisconsin, has been upheld by the attorney-general's office in his contention that shipment of "plunder boxes" at state expense is unconstitutional.

Ballard formerly was a resident of Grand Chute and was state treasurer under Gov. Blaine.

Instructions from the clerk of the assembly that Ballard sent to the respective home addresses of the members of the legislature their records in chests furnished by the state, with freight and express paid, caused Ballard to ask for an opinion. He pointed out that no money had been appropriated to meet such an expense and argued that such an appropriation would be unconstitutional.

The opinion written by J. E. Mesalso and I have been wondering if these nails have not been scattered systematically by someone who is interested in a garage or some irresponsible boys and it looks to me like an investigation should be made. Nine-tenths of the tire trouble we have happens in Door-co. We can run along nearly a year in Chicago and not pick up a nail anywhere but in two months that we spend in Door-co, we had from ten to thirty punctures, all from nails."

An investigation is being made by Door-co officers.

seraschmidt and approved by John W. Reynolds supports his contention. The opinion said:

"In an official opinion of this department VI O O G. 329, it was held that books, papers, etc., may be supplied to legislators; that the title thereto, however, remains in the state; that the legislators may retain custody of such books and papers until law vests it elsewhere. It was also held in said opinion that no appropriation can be made by joint resolution, but it must be by a bill duly prepared and enacted into law."

"It is provided by our constitution and statutes that the legislature must meet at the capitol. It is here that their duties as members of the legislature are performed. They have no duties to perform at the place of their residence. These records being the property of the state in the custody of the different members, I am of the opinion that this resolution is unconstitutional and you are not obligated to comply with its instructions. You have no money appropriated for that purpose in your possession, none has been appropriated and it is my opinion that it is beyond the power of the legislature to appropriate money for that purpose."

SPORTS NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA SOCIETY

COUNCIL AMENDS ORDINANCE FIXING BUILDING LINES

Defer Action on Bids for Constructing Filtration Plant

Menasha — All residences erected hereafter in Menasha must be 20 feet back from the inside sidewalk line. It was decided Tuesday evening by the city council when it adopted an amendment to its zoning ordinance. This new law will apply to residential districts only. In the amendment provisions were made for a board of appeal to consist of five members who will meet once a month to hear complaints. The board will consist of two members elected for a term of two years; two to serve one year and one to serve three years. The heavy manufacturing and the light manufacturing districts will not be affected by the new ruling as these districts are provided for in the original ordinance. Aldermen were instructed by Mayor Remmel to examine properties in their wards and where an extraordinary situation is discovered to take note so it can be included in future amendments.

URGENT ALLEY SURVEY — The need of an alley in the rear of the properties on Main street between Milwaukee and Racine streets was discussed. It was reported by some of the aldermen that the majority of owners of property there favored an alley. Mayor Remmel suggested that a street be surveyed and the property standing in the way of the improvement be condemned but before such action is taken he thought the property owners should be brought together to see the need of an alley. The mayor appointed several aldermen, the engineer and city attorney with Alderman Baldwin as chairman, as a committee to visit the property owners and if necessary secure options on the property necessary for the alley.

The 11 bids submitted to the committee on water and light for the erection of a proposed filtration plant were read to the council but action was deferred until the Aug. 9 meeting. The bids for filter equipment were Norwood Engineering company of Florence, Mass., $46,750; Roberts Filter Manufacturing company of Danby, Pa., $49,500; International Filter company of Chicago, $50,000. Bids for construction were: Deveroux-Olson Construction company of Minneapolis, $56,420; Flour Brothers, Oshkosh, $57,100; Oberweiser-Nelson, Menasha, $57,650; Hoffman Construction company, Appleton, $59,425; C. E. Meyer and Sons, Oshkosh, $59,758; Appleton Construction company, Appleton, $61,734.50; J. W. Newwood, Appleton, $63,586; Hegner Construction company, Appleton, $66,540.

The final resolution to bond the city for $100,000 for the filtration project was adopted and ordered published. Alderman Small opposed the resolution.

Several sewers were reported in poor condition and inadequate and were referred to a committee to investigate. A remonstrance from residents on Appleton-st between Eighth and Ninth streets against the construction of a sewer there was presented. A non-interfering liquor license was granted to William F. Jensen who is to open a soft drink parlor in the bowling alley property on Chute-st. The report of the poor department showed that 14 persons had been cared for during the month of July at a cost of $94.75.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Attempts have been made on the life of ELISE MARBERY, an American girl who owns and lives on property adjoining the queer little jungle-bordered town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, but so far she has escaped harm, due to the shrewdness of her cousin and protector, VILAK, who masquerades as her attorney under the name of DAVIS. Vilak is a curious mixture of American and Oriental blood and a student of criminology. He tries to persuade Elise to leave the country, leaving him there with his friend, LINCOLN NUNALLY, an elderly American chemist, to solve the mystery.

After her two-year-old orphaned nephew is kidnapped, to be found again by the alert Vilak, and further attempt is made on their lives, Elise agrees.

Her departure is prevented by the threat of floods. Messengers ride through the countryside warning the natives. Then Vilak decides to proceed to the house of one GAYLORD PRENTISS, a recluse and a forbidding man, who suspects of a knowledge of the conspiracy against her. Nevertheless, she agrees it is their duty to warn him. Vilak learns that the flood warning is a ruse to get Prentiss out of his house and so informs him. The party is besieged in a small stone tower next to Prentiss' house, by armed attackers. Vilak, finally disperses them by dynamiting a dam and causing a release of the water, which they discover. Prentiss has gone. Vilak directs laborers to set fire to the brush on Prentiss property.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIII
Vilak continued to light the fires for a quarter of a mile the woods were ablaze. The old man interestingly watched the creatures that bolted onto the road to escape the danger suddenly come upon them; the long-legged, crane-like jabiru, the ugly, ungainly peccary, the graceful, agile bush-deer. But he was not long afforded this spectacle, for Vilak had been careful to build back fires and the leaping flames quickly died away. The party returned to Elise's fazenda.

"Hear anything about the boat yet?" Vilak asked his cousin as he strode up to the veranda and met her carrying her tiny nephew outside to bask in the sun.

"Yes. I certainly did. Word came just after you left. Smashed a paddle-wheel up at Benca, and won't be down for another three days. High water sent her onto some rocks. Water's falling everywhere there. Looks as if the flood danger's over."

"Humph. That's cheerful." He helped her adjust mosquito netting over the child's crib which had been placed on the grass. "Another question. Who knows most about the geography of the country around here?"

She thought a moment. "Senhor, de Laurence or Senhor Coloseria. I'd say Laurence would undoubtedly have been the best for you. Nice chap, too. Like him very much. But unfortunately he moved away from her about six months ago and lives about thirty miles down the river now. (Coloseria I don't know so well. He seems pleasant enough to talk to, though some of his fellows, Brazilians haven't a very high opinion of him. But he does know the country and he is nearby. Just a few miles past my place at Vilapa. Do you want to see him?"

He drew out his watch. "It is wasn't so late. I'd go out there this afternoon. I'll make it first thing in the morning. His blond brows knitted. "Mighty sorry about that boat. If it doesn't come Friday we can't wait for it any longer. We'll have to get you and Tinky out some other way. Judging by appearances, things have quieted considerably. But appearances are the one thing I never trust."

The remainder of the day passed without incident. In the morning he set off alone to visit the fazenda of Senhor Coloseria. Passing Vilapa on the way, he stopped for a moment to converse with Wilson, the carrot-faced superintendent of Elise's fazenda, then rode on.

The servant of Coloseria's white, luxurious home who greeted him said his master had gone to inspect one of his rubber developments up the river and would not return for at least a week.

Vilak drove the way he had come. He neared the castanhe trees which bordered the driveway of the fazenda. To his surprise, he saw Elise hurry forward from between the trees to meet him. Her lips were drawn, drawn. "Tinky's gone again," she said quietly.

He leaped from his horse and took her hand. He pressed it gently. "Steady. Steady," he murmured.

She smiled wanly. "No, I'm not going to break down this time the way I did before. I know that it doesn't accomplish anything. Just makes matters harder for you."

"Good girl. Don't worry. We'll find him. The way we did before." Still holding her hand, he took his horse's bridle and began to walk toward the house. "Tell me... what happened, if it isn't too hard... Perhaps you'd better wait a minute or two."

"No. I'll tell you now. I've been waiting here to tell you. I'll not permit myself to break down again."

With an effort she drew herself erect. "It was practically the same this exact as it was before. Tinky was in his bed outside, under the trees. Hannah was taking care of him, for I had some things to do in the house. She got up to get him a drink. You know where we keep the distilled water. On

ed. But new prints, the confused foot-prints of three or four men some apparently naked feet, showed at the beginning of a narrow path that had been freshly cut in the tangle of vegetation.

Vilak dismounted. "Chap got down here. Friends here waiting for him. Let his horse go, and they all went off into that."

He peered into the tangled murkiness where the new path led. He brewed his lip. "No chance of following them any more today. Be night in fifteen minutes. I hate to stop, but you know how absolutely futile it is to try to search the jungle at night. Worse than futile. We'd only obliterate the trail. Probably haven't gone far. Get some beaters and come out first thing in the morning. Better for us in that wilderness if we have some natives who know the country. They can pick up a trail where, trained as I am, even I'd lose it. And they can spread out and increase the radius of our search if the trail comes to an end. The chaps ahead know where they're going, and we don't."

He turned to Elise and pressed her hand again. "Don't you worry about this delay. It'll be all right. Just a little time and we'll find him."

The lines in her delicate face had deepened. "I know you will," she said. The sun sank behind the horizon as they turned their horses homeward. Back at the fazenda, Elise selected twenty of the best laborers in her employ, and ordered them to be ready at dawn. Streaks of sunlight were beginning to show faintly over the distant mountains when the party set out.

Vilak, Elise and the old man rode ahead. Behind them tramped twenty picturesque assorted negroes, half-breeds and Indians, some clad in a cheap red cotton shirt and trousers, some in nothing but the trousers, some in a single robe-like garment made of dirty burlap.

Here a gigantic black chattered with a chocolate-skinned pigmy who hardly reached his shoulder; there a ponderous mulatto argued with a withered old Indian whose gaunt ribs showed clearly through his tawny skin. All carried machetes for cutting the brush, a few carried short spears in case of an encounter with the jaguars which were known to infest the neighborhood.

They reached the newly cut path by the swamp which Vilak had marked with a notch in a mango tree. They entered the work, gloomy fastness.

Paulos, the gigantic black, who was one of the ranch sub-foremen, with the chocolate colored pigmy went ahead to swing their machetes at any twisted lianas, or call out the direction of the apth seemed to fall. But there was little work for them to do. Those who had passed the day before had taken no pains to conceal their course; there was always a broken branch or crushed leaf under foot to point the way.

PICNIC ON LABOR DAY FOR MILL EMPLOYEES

Employees of the Kimberly-Clark Company in Wisconsin will attend a Labor day celebration at Niagara Monday Sept 5, according to plans being made by the Niagara mill and the service department of the company. There will be from 50 to 75 active contestants in the athletic events of the day as well as probably several thousand employees and their families. The mills at Kimberly, Neenah, Appleton and Niagara will participate in the affair.

The celebration will be the first to be held outside of the Fox River valley. Heretofore, the Labor day events were at Kimberly. No celebration was held last year. Plans of the hosts at Niagara would indicate the largest celebration of its kind. M. G. Hoymann of the service department announced. Arrangements for transporting the contestants will be made by the company. Others attending the picnic probably will drive in their own cars.

They traveled swiftly until noon; the trail showed no signs of ending. Vilak looked at his compass. "Due west," he said. "Almost a straight line."

(To Be Continued)

Tinky is not found, and Vilak prepares for a long journey. It will take that long, he thinks, to reach the child.

THE PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

President Coolidge says he is not a candidate for reelection. The declaration, made at Rapid City yesterday, came as a great political surprise. No previous intimation of the president's attitude toward 1928 had been given, nor was there anything to indicate that his mind at this time was agitated by the question one way or the other. The general disposition was to take it for granted that he would be a candidate, and that the odds were altogether in his favor for renomination.

The president's statement reads: "I do not choose to run for president in 1928." The unique ceremony with which he surrounded the making of the announcement, calling the correspondents together in advance and handing each one a small typewritten piece of paper bearing the sentence quoted above, shows that he had given careful thought not only to the decision he was making but to the form in which he expressed it.

It is evident that the statement is not one of finality, nor was it so meant to be. If Mr. Coolidge was determined not to run for president he could have made that purpose definitely clear, or he could have amplified his statement with an explanation of its exact meaning, which he declined to do. He said he does not "choose to run" for president in 1928. That could be construed as a decision not to make the race even if nominated, but we do not think that is what is intended. The meaning of the announcement is simply that Mr. Coolidge is not an active candidate for renomination. That is as far as it goes. The way is left open to the Republican national convention to nominate him, and if it does he will make the race.

There are those who will interpret the Rapid City declaration as an astute political move, well timed and well worded. By its tone of submission and unselfishness it negates the appearance of his having gone to the Northwest for the summer to further his political ambitions, and at the moment when his personal popularity is showing an unmistakable recrudescence in that quarter. We think the reactions will be altogether favorable. They will increase the general satisfaction with his administration and with his fitness and temperament for the responsibilities of the presidency.

Should congress at the coming session have a satisfactory experimental measure of agricultural relief, should it move intelligently for flood control and give business and the consumer further substantial relief from excessive federal taxation, his renomination will be almost inevitable.

The Coolidge attitude evidently is that he will not be put in the position of seeking renomination, that if it is to come to him it must be as the express desire of the Republican party through its national convention. From every standpoint it is a wise and shrewd step. The people will like him the better for it, and that is what counts. They prefer to think of their prospective presidents in this disinterested light and as being "called" to the office rather than seeking it. It should have the effect of putting the candidacy of Coolidge on the defensive and it deals a heavy blow to active candidacy in any quarter. It should do as much as anything the president personally could do or say to insure his reelection.

THE FORD AIR TOUR

The successful completion of the Ford air tour of 4,169 miles, through fifteen states, was a demonstration of the strides the science of aviation has made in the last few years. All thirteen of the planes entering this reliability tour finished at Detroit in the teeth of a howling gale. All through the flight obstacles were met and successfully overcome. Planes and pilots showed themselves of superior caliber. Yet the planes entered were not all of one make, nor were the pilots all trained in the same school. The air tour was a demonstration of the advancement of the science as a whole.

The trip, touching 25 cities, was operated on a schedule and a system of points was carefully worked out before the tour that would enable the judges to pick out the pilot who made the finest record in the flight. The tour was a success and is one more of a series of demonstrations that aviation has gone beyond the status of a dangerous hobby and now deserves to be classed as a successful and reliable mode of transportation.

STILL CHANCE FOR AGREEMENT

The Geneva naval conference is slated to end Thursday. The hope is that the deadlock between Great Britain and the United States is insurmountable and cannot be broken. Japan is reputed to be striving as an eleventh hour intermediary to bring about an agreement. President Coolidge is said to have cabled Ambassador Hugh Gibson to terminate the conference without delay, but we doubt the truth of this report. So, too, do we question the accuracy of the forecast that no solution of the impasse will be found. Many international conferences have had the appearance of absolute failure all through the session and have at the end, when everything appeared hopeless, terminated in a treaty. There was the same sort of a deadlock over reparations, over the admission of Germany to the League of Nations and in the drafting of the Locarno treaties. We should, therefore, not be at all surprised to see an agreement at Geneva, despite all signs to the contrary.

The United States itself has submitted a compromise proposal to Great Britain which is a challenge of good faith. It would permit denunciation of the treaty on short notice should Great Britain find or feel that its security was endangered by the limitations adopted. The London government will find it difficult to justify its unreasonable position on cruiser class and gun limitations, which are obviously designed to destroy actual parity with the United States, and even less a demand for total tonnage of cruisers and destroyers that represents naval expansion rather than reduction. The attitude of the Baldwin ministry toward the aims and objects defined by President Coolidge in calling the conference is one that can hardly be reconciled with peace and international confidence. It is clearly that of war expectancy. It cannot fail to engender suspicion and distrust, and to cause disappointment to the United States.

Notwithstanding we have newspapers and politicians in this country which are constantly fomenting ill-will toward Europe, and which are enlarging upon the possibilities of war, a heavy preponderance of American public opinion inclines to the view that peace may be maintained and that under anything like rational behavior a great war in Europe is out of the question for many years to come. It is the American belief that during this period of economic and financial inability to prosecute war, everything possible should be done to fortify international relations with peaceful commitments and good faith. It is our idea that the Geneva naval conference is a step in this direction, that the gradual and effective reduction of armaments, both land and sea, will tend toward a firmer establishment of peace. Failure of the conference would, therefore, be looked upon with dismay and amazement in the United States. We can only appraise the failure as due to lack of British sincerity and frankness. It would seem that the British government would see the situation in this light and would make concessions to meet the American proposals, which unquestionably are sound and right and equitable.

IODOPHOBIA AND GOITEROFOBIA

We told here the other day how iodophobia (fear of iodine) is cultivated by the manufacturers of luxurious organic iodine compounds that doctors and folks are asked to use in place of the perfectly good sodium iodide, potassium iodide, calcium iodide, iron iodide or other cheap salt, or the common brown tincture of iodine. Drs. Harold T. Hyman and Leo Kessel of Mt. Sinai hospital, speaking from ample study, observation and experience deplore the "fear" fostered over the dangers of iodine administration to individuals with adenomatous glands (that is, goiters in which the enlargement is from actual increase in the internal secreting tissue of the thyroid). "This danger we regard as tremendously exaggerated."

The danger is something like the rumor of Mark Twain's death. At that maybe somebody schemed to use his profits on Mark's premature demise. The manufacturers of the triflingly expensive organic iodine compounds, which doctors and folks are, at the expense of the folks, urged to use instead of sodium iodide, potassium iodide, calcium iodide, iron iodide or plain tincture of iodine have already cleaned up fortunes, thanks to the credulity of many of our present medical leaders, and the flexible business ethics of some of our representative medical and health periodicals.

Drs. Hyman and Kessel specifically assert that "the simple salt of sodium or potassium iodide in small doses of from two to five grains once or twice a day is as good as any other measure. The tendency to use more costly organic salts is a luxury."

Out of the iodophobia, which too many medical men have cultivated under the tutelage of the luxury manufacturers, has grown a goiterophobia, and this goiterophobia is much worse than iodophobia because it goes deeper than the victim's pocket-book.

"Thanks mostly to the ardent medical writers and lecturers for the lay public and to the overzealous public health workers and life extension bullfinks, practically every woman with a goiter has with it an anxiety neurosis, goiterophobia. Almost all of our patients came with symptoms directly referable to this goiterophobia. . . . the symptoms varying in degree almost directly with the amount that the patient has heard or read. . . . The extravagances of the surgeons have helped in no small way to further this anxiety state, one of the most zealous claiming that in his community more than three-fourths of the young women have goiters and that the fear of them is the cause of the goiter, which would imply that more than 37 per cent of the young women in a goiter belt have toxic symptoms of thyroid disturbance. McCarrison and Marine and others have carefully noted that exophthalmic (or toxic) goiter is no more common in these districts than elsewhere and seems not to be influenced by the presence of endemic or simple goiter."

You see how the goiterophobia is cultivated. Drs. Hyman and Kessel continue: "In goiter belts, we are convinced, the majority of patients operated on for exophthalmic goiter and toxic adenoma do not suffer from either condition. The exaggeration of the danger of the so called iodine hyperthyroidism has created an anxiety neurosis in physicians, a state that has seriously interfered with the prophylactic and curative use of iodides. Between the physician and the fears of the patient the whole subject has become unnecessarily complicated and obscured."

Well, that's the way the luxury people like 'em.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mosquito Bites

Please give the right care for mosquito bites. Is it advisable to scratch them? To there any lotion or powder that will relieve the irritation? (C. G.)

Answer—First, the Smithsonian institute scientist's query "Will the age of man be followed by the age of insects" doesn't seem so strange when we consider how many people still imagine mosquitoes breed in the shade of bushes or tall grass and refuse to acknowledge that most of our domestic mosquitoes breed in bits of stagnant water in a pile of water, a mixture of oil, citronella, oil of cedar and oil of tar, equal parts, or the first two alone, tends to repel mosquitoes, or any one of these oils alone may be used with good effect.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

THE PREFACE TO A CENTURY

Although I greatly enjoyed and admired Thomas Beer's biographical study of "Stephen Crane" two or three years ago, I did not happen to get around to reading his newer study, "The Mauve Decade," until recently, more than a year after it was published. During that time this book had quite a run. By September 1926, it had gone through seven editions. Those who have so far missed it have something of an adventure in store, for whatever the book may or may not be it is not commonplace.

Personally I did not get out of it that sense of the rightness of it that "Stephen Crane" gave me, but it must be remembered that the subject is far more elusive than is the theme of the earlier book. To capture between the covers of a book the spirit of a given decade—I mean a quarter of a century—is a task that has been done often enough. There is considerable unanimity as to what was the spirit of the sixteenth century, contrasted with the spirit of the seventeenth century. Certainly the characteristics of the eighteenth century whole literature has been written about that. It would not be very hard to put in words what in the main constitutes the soul of the nineteenth century.

But the spirits of a decade and that decade only a quarter of a century removed from us in time. The flux of life takes no account of dates. It knows no years or decades. It is possible to say that the nineties of the last century were different from the eighties and the seventies or from the first decade of the twentieth century? True, such magazines as "Life" call them the "gray nineties" and print pictures of women on bicycles in lambswool gowns and wearing hats that today look like monstrosities. But the fashions of one decade are always different from those of another. Were the nineties distinguished in their spiritual, intellectual content to have a book written about them?

Probably many who read "The Mauve Decade" will still be in doubt after finishing it. I know I was, but that does not make the reading of the book less worth while. To those who have thought much and read much about the first quarter of the twentieth century, its spirit and its meaning (and who are escape thinking and reading about that) "The Mauve Decade" will be like a preface to a century. Sometimes after you have read a book you turn back to the preface that perhaps you have skipped. And then it acquires meaning in the light of what the book contains, precisely because the author wrote it not in the order in which it was printed but at the end of his work. That is the effort "The Mauve Decade" makes.

There is a fast growing sentiment among the people for the outlawry of war. Many civilized nations are agitating this subject. Outlawry does not mean just a matter of official proclamation or the passing of laws against war, but of changing the system under which nations now live, are settling their disputes. It is a conversion, a "right about face" concerning the institutions, of war, as a method or way. Outlawry insists on applying to conduct between nations the methods which have already been found, and used "to care for all other controversies which threaten to break the peace and order of social life." It proposes when there is a conflict of interests, to substitute reason, information and law, for violence.

HOT WEATHER AND HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

In an attempt to determine the vigor of an individual, workers in the laboratory of the department of physiology of the Ohio State University have conducted a series of experiments during the past three years. The tests have been made on white rats in small house cages with which were connected revolving cylinders. In these the rats could exercise at any time they felt the notion. The revolutions of the cylinders were automatically recorded.

The observations made upon hundreds of rats indicated that the entire expenditure in running these cylinders serves as a rather accurate criterion of the animals' tendency to exercise.

The studies revealed that the animal life human beings, differ greatly as to the times they choose to exercise, the amount of exercise they may take at any given period and the effects of light and all sorts of environmental factors on the amount of their exercise. Special studies were made on all of the organs of the body to find out their importance in relation to the factors commonly understood under the word "vigor."

It was found that the thyroid and parathyroid were not directly concerned in the production of vigor, since removal of these glands from the extract did not materially affect the body or the feeding of the glandular animal's exercise. Removal of some of the adrenal glands above the kidneys had a definite effect in producing weakness, the capacity of the muscles being reduced to one-sixteenth of the normal, but feeding of extracts of these glands did not have any beneficial effect on the animal's activity.

Here is scientific evidence as to the lack of any reasonable basis for the use of any of the preparations of the glands of various types that are sold with the claim that they will restore vim, vigor and vitality.

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That war between nations should be outlawed as an institution or means for the settlement of international controversies, by making it a public crime in international law, and that every nation should be encouraged by solemn agreement or treaty to bind itself to indict and punish its own international war breachers.

Resolved, That the president of the United States and Congress be and are hereby memorialized to take the necessary steps to make this country's leader in the movement for the outlawry of war through agreements with other nations and through legislation curbing all instigators of war and war profiteers.

These are the clearest, simplest resolutions on outlawry yet sent out by any State or nation in their legislative or executive deliberations. It puts Wisconsin in the lead in answer to the question, what ought to be done about the war system of the world?

What more can she do? She can "scrub" a goodly number of the discussions and suggestions now with us about the war problems. The vital questions now are not, what has the world done about war, but what is it going to do? It is not what has been, but what is it now? It is not what has been but what will be, what is right for us? The real war issue now is not of defense, disarmament, war vessel ratios, peace that compromise with war, nor is it about pacifism as defined by many, or conscientious objectors, or patriotism or bolshevism etc. The past supposed glories and gains of military conquests, or the past cruelties of war, we cannot change. What about war in the future is the real issue now and Wisconsin has put that squarely as the issue in its resolutions.

But she needs to do much more. If the hundreds of newspapers in Wisconsin would fly at their editorial mastheads in every issue, "War is now lawful, we stand for making it unlawful" they could almost revolutionize the sentiment of the people who do not yet know what outlawry means.

Wisconsin in these resolutions has laid the foundation for becoming a live, fair, broad and effective proponent against the plans and ideas for killing each other as nations, that are still entrenched in the world.

John Faville.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — Each mid-July I am reminded that, in spite of mountain resort and seaside competition, New York continues to be one of the most popular summer resorts.

Sightseers from every possible quarter of the globe arrive between this moment and mid-September. Walking along Fifth Avenue I saw the number plates of ten states in a space of four blocks. Some were tumbled with camping outfits and the sunburned occupants of one lot it be known that they had started out of California and trekked across the desert.

Some years ago, when James W. Dean conducted this department, he undertook a series of trips that could be made for little or no cost. Running across this, it occurred to me that this was one of the most valuable guidebooks to New York a small-purposed visitor could have. It's something the potential visitor should cut out and put in his hat. With a few additions of my own I pass it on.

Five-Cent trip—Board an elevated train on any line to South Ferry. Second and Third Avenue lines, and Ninth Avenue lines afford particularly good slants at the tenements and cross section of the city's life. At South Ferry, you can visit the Aquarium (admission free). From the A. train, you walk up Pearl Street to Fraunce's Tavern, stopping to see Bowling Green and other historic spots, and can switch over to Broadway in time to glimpse the skyscrapers, the Wall Street belt, the City Hall, and the famous Park Row.

A little extra effort in zig-zagging takes you westward to the waterfront and Turkish and Armenian section or, eastward through City Hall arch, to the neighborhood of Brooklyn Bridge, Chinatown and the Five corners. On the way to Park Row you will pass historic Trinity Churchyard with the graves of Alexander Hamilton and other noted ones, and will have a glimpse of Wall Street and the Stock Exchange. Also, you will pass the Standard Oil Building, the Woolworth Building and other famed skyscrapers and may take a ride to the Woolworth roof, if you care to.

In the event you have cut eastward toward Brooklyn Bridge, you will automatically be at the foot of the Bowery which runs northward. For another nicker you can take a subway or elevated back to your starting point.

The Question Box

Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Fredric J. Eskin, director, Washington, D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your question.

Q. Last night we saw six pieces of stars fall. Was this an unusual number? W. H. R.

A. The Naval Observatory says that these were meteors, not pieces of stars. Meteors are seen only within the earth's atmosphere, while the stars are at immense distances from the earth. It is state that a single observer sees an average of from four to eight meteors an hour, except on occasions of meteoric showers, when they appear in large numbers.

Q. What is meant by a "Cadmean victory"? T. M. S.

A. A Cadmean victory (Greek proverb) was one in which the victors suffered as much as the defeated.

Q. For how long a time is a member of the President's Cabinet appointed? E. G.

A. Such an appointment is a commission at the pleasure of the President for the time being.

"BEAU GESTE" SHOWS
LIFE IN THE LEGION

Oh, for the life of the French Foreign Legion!
How many boys have thrilled with the thought of becoming a legionnaire under the flag of France, of seeing the world, fighting in strange lands, being decorated for bravery and returning home a hero.

Something of the other side of a legionnaire's life is shown in "Beau Geste" P. C. Wren's thrilling mystery story which has been transferred to the screen by Paramount and which is now being shown at Fischer's Appleton theatre.

Forced marches of 30 miles a day, carrying packs of from 50 to 65 pounds bearing seven pound coats under blazing suns—these are common occurrences in the Legion. There are 20 crimes for which the death penalty may be inflicted in the Legion. It is no crime to steal another's equipment but it goes hard with a man whose equipment is stolen. Sometimes they even hold the bars of soap in their mouths while washing, to keep them from being taken.

Ronald Colman, Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes appear as three English brothers who enlist in the Legion. Other featured players in "Beau Geste," which Herbert Brenon directed, include Alice Joyce, Noah Beery, Mary Brian, William Powell, Norman Trevor and Victor McLaglan.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is: A FOUR-CARD MAJOR GENERALLY SHOULD BE BID ORIGINALLY TO A STRONGER FIVE-CARD MINOR.

Yesterday's Hand

- ◆ NONE
- ◆ A-K-2
- ◆ 7-4-3
- ◆ A-Q-J-4

My answer slip reads as follows: No. 5. South (Dealer) should bid one Heart.

No. 6. South one Spade; West should double. No. 7. South pass, West one No Trump; North should pass. No. 8. South one Diamond; West pass; North pass; East should pass.

My reasons in support of these declarations are: No. 5. As a general rule a strong four-card major should be bid initially in preference to a stronger five-card minor, and there should be no question as to the bidding with this hand if the blank Spade suit did not threaten an early force. That makes the initial bid quite doubtful, but the advantage of showing the Major when it can be done cheaply, seems to cast the deciding vote in favor of the Heart.

No. 6. A clear case for a double. The high-card strength is sufficient, and the length in the three suits adequate. No. 7. Partner having passed, there is little chance of making game. Bidding might drive the adversaries into Spades, in which declaration they would have much more chance of game than they would at No Trump.

No. 8. Same lack of probability of making game that exists in No. 7. The danger of the bid in this case is that South has a long weak Spade suit and that North has high Spades. Little chance of an adverse game at Diamonds, but it is possible at Spades. Better let well enough alone.

The hand is held in turn by South, West, North and East; when previous bids have been made, the answer slip so indicates.

HOLD WAR VETERAN ON CHARGE OF LARCENY

Edward Garrick of Oshkosh, held in county jail on a charge of larceny, will have a preliminary hearing August 8 before Judge Theodore Berg.

Garrick was arrested on complaint of Aloys J. Spoerl, a farmer living at Appleton Junction, who accused Garrick of stealing jewelry and clothes from the Spoerl home a few weeks ago. Garrick had once before taken clothes from the Spoerl home but was not prosecuted when he returned the goods.

Garrick is a war veteran and it is believed that he is suffering from shell-shock. However, the chief of police at Oshkosh Wednesday said that he "had trouble with Garrick before." Mrs. Garrick, who lives in Oshkosh, said that she intended having him committed to the Northern hospital at Winnebago.

Being unable to furnish $500 bond for appearance at court August 8, Garrick was committed to the county jail.

BEGIN REMOVING WOOD BLOCKS ON COLLEGE-AVE

Work of taking up creosote paving blocks on E. College-ave preparatory to paving with asphalt was started Tuesday and the street will be closed to traffic on Thursday, it was announced at the city hall. The north side of the street has been left open to traffic and the blocks torn up on the south side from Meade to Catherine-sts.

The Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., will raise the street car tracks on the corner of N. Hamilton-st and E. College-ave about three inches. This work will be done while the street is closed to traffic.

Earlier this week it was announced in the city hall that work would not be started on E. College-ave until after the pavement of N. Meade and Washington-sts was completed.

When the two Wisconsin golfers who have passed through four tough matches, undefeated, clash for the 1927 amateur championship of the state Friday at the Butte des Morts Country club course, they will be the only players on the course. Eighteen holes are scheduled for 10 o'clock Friday morning and 18 more for 2 in the afternoon between the finalists and no other matches in any flight or competition will be allowed the entire day.

The public is welcome to attend the championship match and follow the players around the 36 holes of play, according to Henry Tyrell, secretary of the state golf association. Preparations are being made for one of the largest crowds ever to attend a match at the club grounds.

medal honors at the Butte des Morts course. The closest approach to his mark was made by George Dawson, Milwaukee, siege gunner, who counted a 74. He needed a birdie four on the final hole to tie Allis but he was forced to take a six.

While allowed only two entrants, Allis and Morgan Manchester, Madison, were able to score 70's on Monday; seven more entered the select class Tuesday. Ten players were tied for 81, the high qualifying score, with only five places left to complete the 32 championship flight qualifiers. The five qualifiers were determined by their handicaps. The 81 men who made the light were Gordon Guilbert, Racine; Phil Sandor, Madison; H. H. Pelley, Appleton; Ray Eggert, Racine; I. A. Power, Milwaukee. Other 81's were D. W. Bergstrom and J. N. Fisher, Appleton; Joe Britz and Fred Zwaska, Milwaukee; and E. W. Lawton, Racine.

Rudolph Jensen, Racine, 16-year old golf, scored a 79 to beat the mark of Bud Cantwell, 17, Madison, who had an 81 Monday. Both boys withdrew from the title fight to enter their play on the junior championship Wednesday afternoon, in which they and Bobby Testevide, Sheboygan, 1926 Northeastern junior champ, were favorites.

ALLENS WIN PATER-FILIUS
The Pater-Filius cup Tuesday afternoon was won by C. C. and T. S. Allen, Kenosha, with a low net of 75. Their gross score was 57 and they had a 12 handicap. Medals for low gross, an 82, went to Louis and Ned Allis, Milwaukee. They had a handicap of 5 for a 77 net score.

Tuesday's play was featureless as far as spectacular shooting was concerned, all of the title fight qualifiers playing a steady, consistent game, and holding par or stroke or two over par on most of the holes to enter the big fight.

Milwaukee golfers led players from the southern part of the state in hitting most of the qualifying places. Milwaukeeans had nine of the thirty-two places, Racine, eight, and Kenosha three. Two golfers each from Appleton and Green Bay and a pair from Manitowoc were the northern representation. Appleton players were H. H. Pelley and Phil Dickinson, who had an 82. Buster Beck and Ken Dickinson were eliminated entirely from the meet as no player with a handicap under seven can play in the president's flight.

The best matches of the first round Wednesday were expected to be between George Madusha, crack Delafield player and a qualifier last year, and R. P. Cavanaugh, Kenosha, a past champion, and George Dawson and Phil Dickinson.

Farrell's Recent Wins Are Slap At Golf System

BY JIMMY POWERS

New York — The uncrowned professional golf champion of America—Mr. John Aloysius Farrell—

Slow music, professor, while we shed a few tears over Johnny.

The link season of 1927 is nearing its climax. There remains but the national amateur, the women's championship and the P. G. A. to get excited about.

A critical review of the professional campaign cannot help but drive home the fact that Mr. Farrell is something more than a congenial companion for rainy days and a model for what the well-dressed man should wear.

He has captured five major 1927 golf tournaments — an amazing record.

They are the Metropolitan, Shawnee, Massachusetts, Eastern and Pennsylvania meets. Farrell would trade these five coronets for a single single crown and yet there is no denying his accomplishment is far superior to Tommy's.

Which leads us to a new suggestion made by pros lately: Why not decide the true champion on an average of result over the entire year?

Golf being what it is, it is ridiculous to pick a single 72-hole tournament and call the winner "champion of America." The truth is, if the Oakmont classic had been replayed the following week another probably would have won. Due to the character of the game, an open championship merely decides who is champion for any given week.

Golf resembles baseball that way. They don't proclaim the Giants champions on the strength of one series. Even the lowly Red Sox occasionally trim the Yankees. Pennant races are as good as any golfer at Oakmont — and better than most.

The way the "national champion" is picked in America today seems nothing but a glorified lottery. It is a hit or miss affair with luck enthroned. Whoever happens to be on his name that particular week gets the halo for the entire 52 weeks. It is just as if a batting championship were decided on one afternoon and Babe Ruth, after hitting 100 homers all season, happened to strike out and a rookie scratched a single to cop the title.

This decision was not noticed till 1927 when Mr. Farrell came along and called attention to the faulty system by which a "national professional champion" is selected.

Maybe the new statistical idea is too visionary, undramatic, just the same it is unanswerably just and if you want to find the true leader of 1927 golf look for his name among the F's rather than A's.

SAME OLD CY

CY WILLIAMS

Prate all you wish of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, but to Philadelphia fans there is only one Cy Williams, ancient outfielder of the Phils. Old Cy has been hitting homers so many years that one over the fence is merely routine to him. He is leading the National League swatters in this particular phase of present-day clubbing with 29 to his credit.

SQUAW POCAN FACES OSHKOSH SATURDAY

Star Kimberly Hurler-batter Expected to Continue Long Win Streak

Kimberly — Clarence "Squaw" Pocan is to top the mound Saturday for the Kimberly squad, leaders of the Fox River Valley Baseball League when the K. C. squad meets the Oshkosh aggregation at Kimberly park.

Pocan pitched the Papermakers to their first victory over Oshkosh at the Oshkosh fair grounds two weeks ago. In that fray he also came through with some hefty stick work when he punched a long drive over the center field bleachers for a home run which turned out to be the winning run of the game, breaking a 2-2 tie.

The Saturday game will be called at 3 o'clock. The Kimberly squad snapped out of their recent batting slump, connected in the Menasha game and should be hitting on all nine by Saturday. On Sunday Appleton will be the opposition. The strengthened Appleton squad is hitting the horseshoe hard these days and plenty of trouble is anticipated in turning it back. The two games are of great importance to Kimberly as a double loss over the weekend would shove the K. C. squad out of first place. Either Roehrich or Len Smith will probably be the starting choice against the Appleton team.

Kimberly—The K-C Juniors dropped from a first place tie in the Kimberly Interdepartment Softball League to a tie for second Monday evening when they lost a game to the Warehouse squad, 6-4. The Electricians now hold the top notch alone, while the Juniors are equalled in rating by the Pipefitters. The Warehouse men by the win jumped from a tie for last place to third, leaving the Office men alone in the cellar.

The Warehouse crew scored all of its runs in the third and fourth with three each frame and the Juniors had one each in the first and third and two in the fourth. Neither team could get a runner around in the final five frames. Each team got seven hits. DeWilde had a double and single and two runs for the victors and Van Zealand a homer and a single. For the losers Gossens and Huntington each had two hits and a run. Batteries were Van Zealand and Maurthe for the winners and Ritten and Gossens for the Juniors.

COLLEGE PLAYERS NEEDED IN MAJORS

Roster of Big League Clubs Show Ability of Students to Make Good

College ball players are assuming more and more importance in the major leagues and the minors also, every day. You need only glance over the roster of any club in the major organizations to realize that.

Not a day passes by but what the headlines chant of Lou Gehrig of Columbia, Ted Lyons of Baylor, Frankie Fisk of Fordham, the Semuels of Alabama, Sister of Michigan, or some other former collegian.

The list of collegians in the majors is really a long one. Every club has at least one such player, and some have several, either playing regularly or out in the minors under option. And no major league manager misses a chance to send his scouts out to watch the various campus stars these days.

Branch Rickey is generally given credit for this boom in college ivory of late years, but the two New York, Washington and Cleveland clubs are also due some credit for the influx of collegians in the majors. The White Sox and Athletics are not far behind in the race.

The college player was handed quite a severe rebuke a few years ago by one prominent manager and, about the same time, was complimented highly by another.

Charlie Griffith of the Washington club showered out the praise by saying he thought the college player

Clubhouse Boosters	4	6	.400

Kimberly—No change was made in the standings of the Kimberly Twilight Softball League Monday evening, when the leading Wrinkles Rounders and the tailend Clubhouse Boosters battled 11 innings to a 9-9 tie in a game called by darkness. The score at the end of the game was 8-8 and neither team counted in the tenth, each adding a singleton in the eleventh.

The league leaders staged a rally to come from behind and tie the count in the ninth. The Boosters opened with a run in the first and added five in the fifth, while the first pair of Rounder tallies came over in the sixth. Another was added on the seventh and four in the eighth but the Boosters also scored two in the eighth to hold and 8-7 margin. In the final frame had the better opportunity to cash in on his ability because he thought faster. Ruel, Reeves, McNeely and Huddle are four collegians now drawing pay from Griffith.

John McCraw of the New York Giants handed out the rebuke. He condemned the practice employed by many star college players of taking money to continue their education from one club and then, after graduation, either signing with another club or deciding to stay out of the game.

How to Protect the Throat When Smoking

What 9651* Doctors say on this subject

The signed statements of intelligent men and women whose voices are to them what the hands of the day laborer are to him—the means indispensable to livelihood or success in life—are convincing. Actors and actresses, great singers, men conspicuous in public life, radio announcers, testify that they like LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes because of their finer flavor and because they do not irritate the throat.

Before such statements by laymen were published, questions had been addressed to a number of physicians in various sections of the United States—many of them leading physicians—and some replies had been received. The following is the result of the questionnaire:

Q1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

COUNCIL MOVES TO STOP "LOOSE DOG" NUISANCE IN CITY

Police Instructed to Appoint Dog Catchers Who Will Get $1 for Each Animal

New London — Several applications for licenses were considered by the common council at its meeting Tuesday evening. Following are those which were considered: Leon Taylor, Oshkosh, soft drink parlor to be located in the east half of the Lipke building, denied in the grounds of non-residence; W. E. Benedict, building permit to erect a canopy in front of his place of business, which will extend over the sidewalk and curbing, referred to the board of public works; Harry Bartlett, permission to build a platform to raise his pop corn wagon on a level with the street, referred to the board of public works; David Hintzke was awarded the contract for furnishing the gravel for the city's portion of improving the county line road on Division-st. The gravel will be taken from Cousin's mosquito gravel pit.

The council authorized the board of public works to purchase a 100-gallon pump from the Standard Machine Co. for $150 to be installed at the Hamm fountain for the city water supply. This pump will replace the old one which is worn out.

According to Alderman Louis Hoffman of the fifth ward, complaint has been made to him by residents of that ward in regard to dogs running at night and destroying property. A resolution was adopted authorizing the police to employ dog catchers and pay $1 for each dog brought in.

Consideration of making a full time office city treasurer was made by the council. The treasurer will then collect all money taken at the office which heretofore has been handled by the city clerk. Action was postponed to next meeting.

Horrible Examples

A schoolboy is said to have called an arithmetical problem he was unable to solve a "horrible example." But that isn't exactly what the term expresses to those of us to whom the village never-die-well was held up as an example of what we should shun in youth. Horrible examples have always been brought forward to make virtue and merit shine by comparison.

One of the most horrible of today's horrible examples is the so-called classified advertising medium whose offers are not classified.

It takes but one glance at such a medium to make the virtues and merit of the Post-Crescent's A-B-C Classified Section stand out with redoubled glory.

If you want a new appreciation of the quick-finding, perfectly-systematized, scientifically-simple A-B-C Classified Section—consult one of these horrible example Classified advertisements in which it requires half an hour's search to find that you can't find what you want.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR LOCAL EAGLES FOR MILWAUKEE BATTLE

Soo Line Offers One-way
Fare for Round Trip on Day of Bout, Aug. 11

Appleton Eagles and fight fans are planning to attend the welterweight championship boxing bout between Joe Dundee, the champ, and Pinkie Mitchell, Milwaukee, former junior welterweight list, will have a special train for their convenience over the Soo line on Thursday, Aug. 11, the day of the scrap. The battle is a part of the annual national convention of the lodge, which is being held this year in Milwaukee. The train will leave the Soo depot at 5 a. m. and will leave Milwaukee for the return journey at 11:45 p. m. One-way fare will be in force for the round trip.

The Milwaukee committee of the Eagles decided to spend close to $20,000 in order to bring a world's champion to Milwaukee there were many who felt a bit dubious as to the success of such a match. The committee went ahead with their plans and matched up Dundee and Mitchell in a 10-round battle at Milwaukee baseball park.

From present indications Athletic field will be jammed on the day of the match with boxing enthusiasts from all parts of the country with the national Eagles convention being held in Milwaukee at that time.

Max Waxman, manager of Dundee, has just sent word here that Eastern promoters have been making strenuous efforts to get the Baltimore champion into a match with Mickey Walker, who now holds the middleweight title. "Jack Kearns and his protégé Mickey Walker, since their arrival here from Europe, have not been so anxious to take on Dundee as they were previously," said Mr. Waxman in a talk following the Dempsey-Sharkey fight in New York. "I am not trying to belittle Walker or brag about my boy, but the fact remains that Joe Dundee knocked out Mickey Walker, sometime ago and a few days ago manager Kearns, turned down an offer of $150,000.00 to box Dundee a return match with the middleweight at stake."

"We offered to guarantee Walker $55,000.00 for his and for such a match, but, of course, the $150,000.00 purse beats our figures quite a bit. However, if Mr. Kearns, wants the match he can have it at any time, but we do not intend that Walker shall take all the receipts as Dundee is a world's champion just the same as Walker in his class."

Dundee is matched with Pinkie Mitchell in Milwaukee on August 11th, and I am sincere when I say that we expect a hard battle from Mitchell as any one in the country, for he certainly gave Joe a severe test in Philadelphia, even if Joe did get the shade decision. We are taking no chances on this match and you may rest assured that Joe will be in the very best condition when the time comes. He is not trying to pick any soft ones, but he is ready to defend his title in the East against the best that the promoters can bring forward."

Judging from the demand for tickets from outside of the state and in various parts of Wisconsin, one of the biggest crowds that has ever attended a boxing match in Wisconsin is assured.

There will be three preliminaries in addition to the feature bout.

DEMPSEY DESIRES DELAY OF BATTLE

Former Champ Wants Scrap
Sept. 26 to Regain Best Condition

Chicago—(AP)—Jack Dempsey's opposition to entering the ring before Sept. 26 Wednesday continued to be the chief item of interest in his imminent engagement with Gene Tunney for the world's heavyweight title.

In a statement at Los Angeles Tuesday the challenging ex-champion made known that he "wanted to be right" when he renewed his acquaintance with Tunney, and said he did not see why Rickard would not delay the bout until after Sept. 25 to give him an opportunity of getting into the proper mental condition.

Dempsey said: "I want to be right when I fight Tunney again. I see no reason why Rickard can't grant me the favor I ask, delaying the fight until the last week of September, because of the illness of my wife. I can't leave her in her present condition and Rickard knows that if I am not happy mentally I can't be right physically."

Notwithstanding, Dempsey's close friends intimated that they thought Jack would ultimately agree to Rickard's plans, after learning from his wife's physician that her condition was not so serious as he supposed. The doctor said Mrs. Dempsey would be able to accompany her husband east in time for the proposed fight date, Sept. 15 or 22.

With the stadium rented, the promoters license issued, and all other necessities arranged for Chicago fight fans and officials were of the opinion that the date of Rickard's choice eventually will prevail.

Rickard and George Getz, the nominal promoter, said they were anxious to hold the match on the original date but might delay it until the 22nd if Dempsey proved obdurate. Dempsey's plea for the later date was vetoed entirely because the stadium is unavailable after Sept. 25.

Getz desires one central ticket agency downtown and hopes to restrict distribution of the admissions to this one place, excluding the ticket brokers.

With 40,000 ringside seats the stadium will accommodate the 150,000 crowd Rickard confidently expects will want to see the fight. If that attendance is realized, it will be the greatest outpouring to an athletic event in the history of the world.

Heading the eight was William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, the country's ranking player. Arriving a day late he moved down two opponents in rapid succession.

WEEK'S GAMES

Wednesday — Co. D vs. Badger Printers.

Friday — Brandts vs. Civic Club.

Final Week's Schedule.

The Interlakes softball team clinched the 1927 pennant in the City Twilight Softball League Tuesday evening at Jones park. But though the final victory was scored over a team, thought to be a weak sister of late, the papermill boys knew they were in a ball game before it was over and many heaved sighs of relief at the victory which spoiled a chance for a first-place tie with the Legion. The Post-Crescent squad, on which every team has been taking picks in the last few weeks and which the Interlakes beat by some 10 runs a week before, reared up on his hind legs and battled valiantly for 10 innings before losing a 6-5 decision. The newspaper men went into the game determined to make the title battle a real one and they accomplished just that to the satisfaction of the spectators and the rival squad, coming from behind to tie the score in the ninth.

The losers scored a run in each of the first two frames and the winners counted once in the second. Then the Interlakes took a 4-2 lead by holding the P-C crew scoreless for four frames and scoring one in the fourth and two in the sixth. Each team added one in the seventh. With a score of 6-3, the P-C men held the winners for two frames and got a run each time. The winning run came in the tenth on Witke's hit with one down and an error on Leach's drive to third base after two had been retired.

FEW HITS MADE

Two errors and a hit scored the tying run in the ninth and the P-C men lost a chance to take the game on poor baserunning. Wagner held the winners to three hits, and the losers garnered four off LaRoux. Catches of long flies by LaRose of the losers featured the defensive play.

BADGER GRIDDERS KEEP IN CONDITION

Varied Jobs, Especially Heavy
Labor, Keep 1927 Football
Men Fit

Madison—Football fans are waiting away their time during this popular vacation month of August, with golf, fishing, swimming and the like in vogue in the summer. The rapidly approaching football season is not forgotten, for intermingled with the more timely sport gossip are the usual speculations of the 1927 gridiron campaign.

Vacations are the things these days. But not so with the boys who will be donning their moleskins next month to prepare for action. Glenn Thistlethwaite's Wisconsin squad members are toiling diligently at various occupations, known and accepted to be of the muscle hardening variety.

If all reports are true, some 75 or 80 old Badger athletes will turn out at Camp Randall Stadium in response to the first call Sept. 15 in tight physical condition. Having taken the matter of conditioning into their own hands, the likely candidates may be located one place or another, bending vigorously to the tasks of their summer jobs.

The Badger gridiron men favor hard labor, for more than two dozen are now working on construction and road gangs, farms and in lumber mills. These boys are digging ditches, wheeling concrete and carrying load. Several are driving heavy trucks, while some are in the employ of the state, repairing highways and cleaning up the right-of-ways.

There are the customary few enrolled in the summer school here and some who are relying upon golf and the more gentle summer recreations to round themselves into shape. At least a trio are "Red-Granging it" on ice-wagons, and one candidate chose the "profession" of cheesemaking.

Other occupations reported by the Badger football men are painting, surveying, selling and camp supervising. One of the boys is serving as a life guard, another as a mail clerk, and several as chemists and machinists.

Your Question And Its Answer

By J. A. PANNECK, D. C.
Doctor of Chiropractic

QUESTION—My daughter has not felt well since she had scarlet fever some months ago. I have noticed that her eyelids are swollen. Do you think she is in for another siege of Scarlet Fever?

ANSWER—The swelling in the eyelids strongly indicates a chronic Nephritis which frequently follows Scarlet Fever and at any time might become acute, making a serious condition very probable. You should immediately take this girl to your nearest competent Chiropractor.

QUESTION—What can be done for pain that started some months ago in my back and is now so bad in my right leg that I can only get around on crutches?

ANSWER—You started with Lumbago that has now become Sciatica, the former being the forerunner of the latter. Your Chiropractor will readily find and prove to you that a vertebral interference with a nerve is causing all your trouble. Stay under his care daily and you will find that you can throw your crutches away in a short time.

QUESTION—Do you think my liver is bad because I frequently bring up mouthfuls of water that tastes bitter?

ANSWER—What you are complaining of is Pyrosis, the Greek meaning of which is burning. Pyrosis is due to acid dyspepsia which causes a sour eructation with a burning sensation in the esophagus and stomach. Your Chiropractor will relieve this condition for you in a very short time. He deals with the Cause.

Chicago Crew Beats Phils as Pirates Are Forced Down by Boston

Kent Greenfield, one of John McGraw's castoffs, pitched Boston to a 3-2 victory over the Pirates Tuesday and this incident, coupled with the Chicago Cubs, 6-2 win over Philadelphia, put Donie Bush's club one and one half games out of first place.

Carmen Hill, the National League's leading pitcher, was thumped for the Braves victory, but poor support aided in his downfall.

Guy Bush, one of the Cubs' pitching mainstays, got away to a shaky start against the Phils, but steadied down after his mates had batted Ferguson for four runs in the second.

The Giants concluded their series in St. Louis by dropping one to the Cardinals, 6-2. A six run rally, featured by Frank Snyder's home run with two on bases, exploded the Giants' hope of a clean sweep of the series.

Cincinnati was preparing for the New York invasion by taking both halves of a double header from the Dodgers. Jackie May had the better of McWeney in the opener and won 3-1, while the Reds pounded Pitt for a 3-4 decision in the second.

JOHNSON HONORED, BUT LOSES BATTLE

Veteran Drops 7-6 Decision to Tigers on 20th Anniversary in Majors

Washington—(AP)—Walter Johnson, veteran pitching ace of the Washington Senators, rounded out his twentieth anniversary in major league baseball with a defeat just as in his league debut, but found the Capital's fans generous with honors in appreciation of his services.

Against the same opponents of two decades ago the Detroit Tigers, Johnson hurled a losing game, 7 to 6, Tuesday before 20,000 fans packed in the Griffith stadium, but despite his defeat he set a new record with a total of 3,455 strikeouts. But unlike the contest of 20 years ago Johnson was not credited with the defeat, the official scorer charging it against Garland Braxton, who relieved him on the mound in the ninth inning and yielded three runs to the Tiger batsmen.

The game was designated "Johnson day" at the ball and "old Barney" occupied the center pack of the stage throughout the entire afternoon.

The fans of Washington presented him with a silver service and plan to erect a permanent memorial for him in the form of a bronze and marble statue at the stadium. From his team mates he received a silver water pitcher and tray, while the Washington and

Detroit clubs gave him a check for $14,746.05, representing the excess of the gate receipts for the day over the average returns for the week.
From the American League came its highest award, the distinguished service cross of baseball, a gold medal cross studded with 20 diamonds, one for each year of his service.
In the absence of President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg presented the gifts. The president, however, tendered his praise in a letter in which he wrote "Johnson has been in influence in clean living and clean sport," while Mr. Kellogg in his presentation address declared his "mame stands for what is best in sport."
